VIGOROUS STEPS

To be Taken to Stamp Out Smallpox.

Dr. J. N. McCormack, of the State Board of health, was here yesterday in consultation with the Fiscal Court and City Council, and outlined a plan for managing the smallpox situation in the county. Both bodies agreed to co-operate fully with the health officers and leave nothing undone to stop the spread of smallpox. A reward of $1 will be paid for every case reported. All future cases, white or black, will be taken to the eruptive hospital. Compulsory vaccination will be ordered. All infected premises will be disinfected.

The situation is now improving. There are 26 colored cases in the hospital, 12 ready to discharge. One colored patient, Frank Shirley, died Thursday night. The three or four cases of white people in the city are all convalescent.

Bud Word shot and instantly killed Tom Carter Friday morning. Both parties are colored and the killing occurred on the farm of Mr. Marlow Johnson, near the city.

The negroes were farm hands, and, in company with Carter's father, were in the field gathering corn. The elder Carter was some distance from the other hands and when he heard the report of the pistol, turned and saw his son fall dead. Carter was hit in the stomach.

Claus Bogel's Superb Acting.

While Ideals of acting are varied and the personal equation enters so largely into any individual judgment of a player's art, it may be safely asserted that any unbiased spectator of Claus Bogel's performance of Oswald in Ibsen's masterpiece, "Ghosts," will unhesitatingly rank with the preatest performers that are playing on the American stage to-day. While his work has the stamp of a dominant intellectuality it does not rely upon mere intellectual manifestations. He is masterful in his employment of tension and in his suggestion of repose, and all without mannerism or affectation. Mr. Bogel and an excellent company will present Ibsen's masterpiece at the Opera House on Nov. 23.

JUDGE BUSH

Judge Reed and the special judge both being interested in the suit of Samuel B. Hughes, trustee, against W. B. McPherson, the case was submitted to Judge C. H. Bush, of Hopkinsville. He immediately took same under advisement. Hughes, as trustee for the City National Bank, is trying to oust McPherson from the building the latter occupies at Fourth and Broadway, on which he has a ten years' lease that has a long time to run yet. The bank owns the building and has tried in many ways to get the tenant out, but so far without success. Paducah Register.
